

Regarding Tony Lorenzen

February 28, 2013

To Whom it May Concern:

I have had the opportunity to know Tony in two different capacities: I was on the Board of Directors for the South Central Alliance of Churches (SCAC) while Tony served as Director; I also heard him preach at Westside Unitarian Universalist Church. Both are in Fort Worth, Texas.

As Director of SCAC, Tony showed a forceful personality which enabled him to get things done. He took a faltering "one-day-a-week" summer program for neighborhood children and turned into a successful program offered four days a week. He encountered problems with meal deliveries from the Fort Worth Food Bank and was able, in spite of several obstacles, to make it all work. He innovated other programs, such as taking clients to the DMV to obtain picture IDs, which are required for many of the services the clients needed. He demonstrated a genuine caring attitude for those he served. At Board meetings he had his comprehensive reports done and presented in a timely manner. His relationship with the governing board of SCAC was, as far as I know, always good.

I heard Tony give sermons at Westside on at least two occasions. He is a dynamic speaker and expresses himself well.

Tony appears to be well organized. He took a small, overcrowded office space and created a working space which operated much more efficiently. The SCAC office is housed in a local church building, as was the summer program, and Tony seemed to have a good relationship with all concerned.

Personally, I enjoyed working with Tony, and hope that you will consider him favorably for the position for which he is applying.

Sincerely,
